CRAIG-McFARLANE

A quiet wedding of interest locally was solemnized in the First Church of Christ, Edmonton, Monday, February 23rd, when Miss Marion McFarlane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McFarlane, Edmonton, was united in marriage with Mr. Ronald Craig, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Craig, Vulcan. Rev. Bergman officiated. The young couple will make their home in Edmonton.

KELTIE-DONALD

In a candlelit wedding ceremony Saturday evening at 7:30 in St. Stephen's College chapel, Edmonton, Margaret Jean, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Donald and the late Mr. J. G. Donald of Edmonton, became the bride of Mr. Richard J. Keltie, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Keltie of Edmonton. Rev. E. H. Birdsall officiated before an altar banked with early spring flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John W. Donald of High River. She wore a powder blue gabardine suit complemented with gray accessories and a corsage of deep red roses and white hyacinth.

Mrs. Nonie Thomas of Vulcan was the bride's only attendant, wearing a two-piece suit in gold wool with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Best man was the groom's brother, Mr. Ian Keltie, and the ushers were Mr. Alan Keltie, another brother of the groom, and Mr. George Swanson. Mr. Ralph Couper played the wedding music and Miss Kay Jones was soloist.

Mrs. Donald chose for her daughter's wedding a black crepe dress trimmed with gold and black accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Keltie, was also in black with which she wore matching accessories.

A reception was held at Mme. P. A. Dow's, 11035 113 St., where Mr. P. P. Griffith proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride's table was decorated with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by pale pink carnations and pink tapers. Mrs. Richard Secord of Winterburn and Mrs. D. A. McAfee of Vulcan poured, and assisting in serving were Mrs. Robert Cain, Mrs. A. R. Keltie, Mrs. A. C. Foster, Miss Heather Keltie and Miss June Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Keltie left on a wedding trip to Calgary and Banff and will take up temporary residence in Edmonton. For travelling the bride wore her wedding ensemble with a black seal coat, trimmed with Persian lamb.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. D. A. McAfee of Vulcan, Mrs. Nonie Thomas of Vulcan, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Soley of Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Secord of Winterburn, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Donald of High River.

GESCHWENDT-ROOT

Knox United Church, Calgary, was the setting of a very pretty wedding on the evening of March 6th when Marmon Louise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Root of Lomond, exchanged marriage vows with Fred Gunther, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Geschwendt of Calgary. Rev. Allan R. Huband performed the ceremony before an altar banked with bouquets of pastel-toned spring flowers.

As the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march pealed forth, the bride entered the church on the

Drifts Still Bad But Warmer Weather Expected

Another snowfall over the weekend added to the trials of the snow-plow crews working to open the roads, as the slightest breeze caused more drifting. However, calm weather has prevailed the early part of this week and no further drifting was reported Tuesday or Wednesday.

Three provincial snow plows, two of them rotaries, reached Vulcan Monday morning after battling their way for two days through the heavy drifts on the Calgary-Carseland highway. Wednesday morning the routes to Calgary via Carseland and to Lethbridge were reported open.

Below zero temperatures were experienced Monday and Tuesday nights, warming up considerably during the day. Wednesday dawned bright and clear, with the promise that warmer weather could be expected.

arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her bridal gown of traditional white satin featured a net yoke and appliqued motives of roses and leaves of self material around the neckline and full skirt. Her full length veil cascaded to the floor from a lace coronet and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Betty Lou Davis of Edmonton, who attended the bride as maid of honor, wore a floor length model of blue sheer which featured brocade bodice and sleeves. She completed her ensemble with a matching head-dress and elbow length mitts, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Melita Geschwendt, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and was attired in a floor-length gown of blue taffeta with bustle effect. Her head-dress was a blue halo and elbow-length lace mitts to match completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Richard Myers of Vulcan attended the groom as best man and guests were ushered by Donnie Larkins and Aubrey Root, to pews marked with white organza bows.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the West Dining Room of the Palliser Hotel. Receiving with the bride party was the bride's mother who wore a black sequin trimmed dress with black accessories and a corsage of tea roses, and the mother of the groom, who was attired in a brown ensemble with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by tall ivory tapers in silver candlebra and vases of daffodils and pink carnations.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. A. Jensen. In the absence of Rev. Huband, and was fittingly responded to by the groom.

Later, the happy, young couple left by motor for Banff and Edmonton where their honeymoon will be spent. As her going-away costume, the bride wore a beige afternoon frock with embroidery trim, topped with a leopard skin shortie coat and brown accessories.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Geschwendt will reside on the groom's farm east of Champion.

United Church Groups Hold Yearly Banquet

On Wednesday, March 3rd, the members of the United Church Junior and Intermediate groups of the Explorers, Canadian Girls in Training and Trail Rangers, along with their parents and leaders, gathered in the L.O.O.F. hall for their annual banquet.

Among the invited guests were the leaders of other similar youth groups in the community.

Following the supper, served by members of the groups, Mr. M. R. Morrison acted as chairman and the following toast were given and replied to:

To the King, by Richard Hill.
To the Town, by June Wolford; replied to by Mayor W. D. Allan.
To the Church, by Leland Arnold; replied by Ross Walker.
To the Mothers, by Mary June Sproule; replied by Mrs. R. Buehler.
To the Dads, by Dick Kenny, replied by Mr. G. E. Clayton.

The program consisted of skits portraying a day at camp. Miss Jean Cox, Associate Field Secretary of the Religious Educational Council of Alberta, gave the address, showing the need for co-operative working by the home, church, school and community for the youth. Miss Cox also led the closing vesper.

Qualifications For Voting In Municipal Elections

Elsewhere in this issue appear advertisements in connection with the election of councillors in Divisions One and Three of the Municipal District of Vulcan No. 29. Voting will take place at the polls as advertised on Saturday, March 20th from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon. This is the first election to be held in the Municipal District of Vulcan since the formation of the District in 1943 and since the new regulations in respect to voters' qualifications have come in to force.

In preparing for the forthcoming vote, two voters lists have been prepared for each division. One list contains the names of land owners who are qualified to vote regardless of residence. The other list contains the names of all persons who are British subjects, 21 years of age and have resided in the division in which the election is being held continuously for a period of six months. Lists have been posted in post offices and provision is made whereby the lists may be corrected up to within four days of the date of election. Provision is also made whereby persons who are qualified to vote and their names are not on the voters' list may vote by taking an oath at the time of voting at the poll.

Councillors elected at this election will take office on April 3rd which is the date of the first meeting of the new council and will hold office for a period of three years.

Division One comprises all of that portion of the Municipal District south of the road between townships fifteen and sixteen and Division Three comprises all of township 16 in ranges 25 and 26, the south halves of township 17 in range 25 and 26, the west half of township 16 range 24 and the south west quarter of township 17 range 24.

sonably good and if expectations are realized, it will help to ease the world scarcity of bread grains. But a bumper bread grain harvest in 1948 would not provide a permanent solution to the food crisis, reports the January Monthly Review of the Wheat Situation issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. A return to more normal bread ratings might ensue, but shortages of fertilizers, draft power, labour and essential agricultural supplies still persist in war-affected areas. Even with normal production conditions restored, an increase of approximately 6 per cent in world population over pre-war is a factor which cannot be dismissed lightly. In addition, the desire of farmers to rebuild the livestock enterprises will sooner or later tend to bring about increased acreages of feed grains at the expense of bread grains. Thus, providing a solution is found to foreign exchange difficulties—at least to the extent that importing countries are enabled to take up exportable surpluses of bread grains—there appears to be little probability of a wheat surplus developing in the near future.

Five Towns In Little Bow 'Spiel

Play in the annual Little Bow bonspiel started at the local curling rink, Wednesday morning of this week, with the towns of Brant, Blackie, Champion, Barons, Vulcan and Carmangay, each represented by two rinks.

Representing Vulcan are the rinks skipped by Charlie Cook and Earl Erickson, winners of the draw which determined which rinks would represent Vulcan, and the three sheets of ice in the local rink were in perfect condition on Wednesday morning.

Final results of the 'spiel were not available at time of going to press and will be reported next week.

Demand for Wheat Likely To Continue

Because of the acute world shortage of bread grains, the prospects for the 1948 wheat crop in North America and Europe are all important. Fortunately good wheat crops are practically assured from Argentina and Australia, but at best supplies from these two countries and from the United States and Canada, and to a lesser extent from Russia, can only partially fill the immediate requirements of those countries whose people are reduced to a woefully small bread ration. It is only from the new crop that any considerable relief can be expected.

Production within the deficit countries themselves is somewhat brighter than a year ago. Winter cereal crops in Europe are progressing well and acreages are larger, though a cold wave could alter the crop outlook quickly.

In the United States crop reports are generally favourable and a wheat crop of one billion bushels or more is considered possible. Canada's spring wheat crop should go into the ground under favourable moisture conditions, as autumn rainfall was generally above average.

A good rice crop has been harvested in India and Burma, which should make these countries less dependent on what from North American export supplies. India, too, is to receive 25 million bushels of wheat from Australia.

Naturally many hazards must be faced between now and harvest, but the world crop outlook is reasonably

Trade Board To Sponsor Meeting On Income Tax

Will Preach At Church of Christ

Clifford Edwards, a native of Jamaica, British West Indies, will be visiting the Church of Christ this coming weekend. He will speak to the young people's group Saturday evening and at both services on Sunday.

Mr. Edwards was born and educated on the island and for the past few years has been training and preaching among his native people. His entrance to Canada was sponsored by the Portage la Prairie Church of Christ and with the aid of various individuals he arrived in Calgary in January to study at the Alberta Bible College for the next three years. He will then return to Jamaica.

J. R. Chapman left on Sunday to hold a one week evangelistic meeting at King Edward Park Church, Edmonton, for E. Gilbert Cays.

INCOME AND BUDGET

A director of the purchasing division of the departmental firm of R. H. Macy and Co. said recently: "A pattern is taking shape throughout every industry which should be worrying business men. We are pricing merchandise above the income of the people."

Commenting on the statement: "We are pricing merchandise above the income of the people," C. A. Hayden writes in Country Life in B.C.:

"Everyone of us knows that this is being done. We are getting so that we check closely on the price of an article before we buy it. We have begun to cut down on our purchases; we have begun to cut certain articles out of our buying program. Why? Because prices have risen—and are still rising—to such a degree that our income will not permit the wide-range buying that was common just after the war. We pick out this or that."

"The sad fact is that our income only reaches about half as far as it reached a couple of years ago. What's more, we are coming to think that times will be tougher before they get easier."

"It would seem to most of us that what Canada should be concentrating on is the study of ways and means to assure continuity of incomes that will justify budgets. For example, what is to be the economic fate of Canada's agriculture on which the country's financial structure rests? Its position today is shaky because stability in respect of fair prices is lacking. If Russia takes over the British market for wheat, what then? What is going to happen to our livestock market? Our dairy products market? Our egg market? Our fruit and vegetables market? To the markets for our other exportable farm products? "If these markets fail, what will happen to our industries, to our wage earners and even to our banks. Here is a fair question for discussion. Perchance the banks could get together with agriculture and with industry and labor and help Ottawa provide solutions for the economic problems that face this fair Canada of ours as we enter another fateful year."

CAUTION, DANGER AHEAD

J. E. BROWNLEE, K.C., vice-president of the United Grain Growers Ltd., in an address to farmers recently, advised caution in agricultural spending. He warned that world affairs were very uncertain and few men are daring enough to predict with any assurance how long favorable conditions would continue.

The bright side of the picture as he saw it was the tremendously strengthened position of the western farmer in comparison with periods of the past. Farm debt is at an all-time low, and although old equipment has not yet been adequately replaced, the process of replacement is moving ahead. As further reassurance, Mr. Brownlee mentioned legislation to raise basic price of wheat to $1.55 which would be initial payment for the next two years. The British Wheat agreement of $2.00 wheat for the coming crop year will build up reserves in the Canadian Board. The two hundred million dollars to be distributed by the Wheat Board as surplus from crops of the last three years, will be additional revenue to the western farmer.

With these advantages, Mr. Brownlee said that whatever may be the impact of world events to come the farm industry is well equipped to meet them.

But he repeated his advice that farm operators keep some reserves on hand to cushion the shock of reverses. He considered that essential expenditure included farm and building improvement and machine replacement, but not to the extent of depleting all reserves.

The greatest need of agriculture, he said, was a world in which trade functions normally. "The future of western agriculture," he declared "depends on a well-ordered world, free from threat of war as well as from war itself. But it is still my profound belief that no nation today is ready for war."

Although admittedly Canada's influence in international affairs is limited, he felt that she could contribute toward a peaceful world by tolerance and understanding in all relations with other countries.

ALBERTA AND C. B. C.

THE Brooks Bulletin commenting on the C.B.C. observes that on the whole it has not done a bad job, but is not really national in outlook. "Judging from many of the national network programs," adds the Bulletin "the C.B.C. has the idea that Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal comprise all of Canada."

"Maybe Alberta people are proud and clannish. They are the highlanders of Canada. They think their province is as good as Ontario if not better and that there are smart people in Alberta as well as Eastern Canada. But Alberta gets little recognition over C. B. C."

"If the C.B.C. is going to sell itself to the people of Canada it must get out of its Ontario shell and get some of the atmosphere of other provinces."

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

In the July 15, 1902 issue of the High River Eye Opener, Bob Edwards opens with a little story of rural life. He describes with some venom a twelfth of July celebration at Okotoks. He doesn't like Okotoks. He tells a very pathetic story of an innocent old gentleman who is arrested in the midst of a church service—a bad boys prank and an aged usher are the cause of it all.

Whose Crop Was It?

A farmer leased a field to a farm hand and the rental was to be one-fourth the crop raised. Harvest came in due course, but the farmer was amazed to find he had got nothing. The tenant hauled three loads of produce to his own barn, but there was nothing left for the farmer. "Here," he protested "Wasn't I to get one-fourth of the crop?" "Sure you were," said the tenant, "but hang it, there were only three loads so what could I do."

A Long Journey

A soldier on furlough from the Calgary barracks had gone and got married. On his return journey to Calgary he gave the conductor his marriage certificate in mistake for his travel ticket. The conductor studied it then said: "Yes, my boy this is a ticket for a long wear-some journey but not on the C.P.R."

Celebrating In Okotoks

Last Monday the following ladies and gentlemen of High River went up to Okotoks to take in the alleged festivities of Orangemen's day: Mrs. McCarthy, Miss Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Heslip, Misses Gussie and Georgie Heslip, Arthur Brown, F. Dearaway, Harry Robertson and W. Todd. The dance was a success affair, and so was the ball game between Nanton and Okotoks, with Okotoks defeated of course. The rest of the program was on the pork. The races were off color. The god of booze as usual shed his benign countenance over proceedings. The Indians were dissatisfied over their puns which were of the two-bit variety. Our own Chickie won three races and got $1.50. They sure do the Indians up brown at Okotoks.

The triumphal arch was said to be quite a sight. It consisted of two sticks rammed into the ground and a crosspiece inscribed "God Save Lineham's Logs." This created a profound impression. On the south side of the cross-piece was a hand pointing to the hotels with "This way for what you want." All of which gave Okotoks a very arch appearance.

Arrester in Church

At a certain Calgary church an aged usher to save the exertion of continually marching up and down the aisle to conduct persons to their seats, used to stand in the centre of the church and when any inquirer appeared, beckoned to them and conducted them to a seat. The kids of the neighborhood, knowing his peculiarity, used to pop their heads inside the church and mimic his actions by beckoning to him. Many times he tried to catch them and one Sunday morning nearly did so. But the boy who was closest dashed off, and ran into the arms of a policeman.

"Now what have you been up to," said the policeman holding to the boy's arm.

"Oh sir," cried the boy, "there's a disturbance at the church, and they sent me to fetch a policeman."

"Very good," said the officer, "I'll step in and see about it."

So he opened the door at the west end of the church and, taking off his helmet, entered.

The aged usher then escorted him to a seat next to an old gentleman.

Immediately he was seated he touched the old gentleman and said: "Come with me."

The old gentleman whispered back "What do you mean?"

Officer—"You know what I mean and no back talk. Come quietly or I'll have to take you by force."

Old Gentleman—"I really don't understand you."

Officer—"Look here, we don't want no disturbance. You've been kicking up enough and I'm going to have you out quick."

By this time the congregation began to wonder, so the old gentleman said, "In order to save trouble I will go with you."

So together, to the astonishment of the congregation, they marched up the aisle.

When they passed out of the church the usher followed, and the policeman turned to him and said: "Now then you have to make your charge."

"Charge?" asked the old usher "Their ain't no charge, all the seats are free."

Make Hospital Visits Brief As Possible

Hospital authorities do not wish to exclude the relatives of seriously ill patients or to keep visitors away from the chronically ill, but they do try to protect the average patient from his visitors. Hospital rules can restrict visiting to certain hours of the day and limit the number of visitors each patient may have at any one time, but what a visitor does in a hospital is up to him.

Make your visits short. At best it may be difficult to carry on a conversation with someone you have not seen for some time, but trying to do so when you are flat on your back is most difficult. Sick people tire easily, and visitors who find it difficult to leave make matters worse.

In case of doubt as to the advisability of visiting a sick person, call the patient's home for information in advance, or write the patient a letter instead. Many people apparently for want of something better to do, drop in on a hospital patient when it would be better for everyone concerned if the visit were deferred until the patient returned home or was well on his way to convalescence.

SMOKING IS POOR POLICY
Smoking in hospital rooms, in addition to the possible danger of starting a fire, may upset the sick person. Even though he is himself a smoker, things may be different now. Other sick persons are distressed by smokers in an adjoining room.

Hospital patients who smoke in bed or when they are drowsy may ignite their clothing.

Avoid efforts to cheer up the patient. After all, you do not know the exact nature of his illness, and your well intended cheerfulness may act as a boomerang. Do not assume a funeral air, but try to be natural and considerate of the sick man. Most patients resent being told to cheer up, that they are going to be all right and that the visitor knew someone who was much worse off.

GIFTS MAY HINDER CARE
Don't bring food, drink or medicine to the patient, as doing so may interfere with his treatment.

If you wish to send flowers, consider the possibility of bringing them yourself or of sending them to the patient's home on his return. While hospitals are anxious to keep their patients as cheerful as possible and to let them know that their friends are sorry they are ill, nursing services are short-handed, and the extra care of flowers may interfere with more vital duties.

Children should under no circumstances visit hospitals. Keeping the child away protects him from exposure to contagious disease and protects the patients as well. It may be exciting to the child to see so many new things, but his enthusiasm may disturb the sick.

Hospitals everywhere are crowded with patients and are troubled with help shortages. To serve the largest possible number of patients, each one's stay necessarily must be restricted.

To help patients get well, hospital visitors should observe the rules of good conduct while in the presence of the sick.

Repairing Machinery

Because machinery is one of the largest and most important factors in the production of crops, it is essential that it be kept in as good repair as possible. Most of this repairing can be done on the farm during the winter months or at some other slack season.

To do much repair work the farm should have a reasonably well equipped work shop, says K. E. Bowren, Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask. This means there should be a fairly large building where the tools are kept and where the whole machine or a good portion of it can be taken inside to be repaired. The shop should be equipped with a stove or some other means of heat to make winter work possible. It also should be equipped with a large bench space, drawers and pegs for holding tools and spare parts, a bench vise and possibly a forge. Although the forge is not absolutely necessary for minor repair work it is necessary for straightening harder metals and can be used, with a little experience on the part of the operator, for soft iron welding.

To avoid unnecessary delays during the busy season, all machinery should be given a complete checking over at least once a year. This makes it possible to change or repair worn parts before they become so serious damage to other parts.

In checking a machine all moving parts should be removed and thoroughly washed in gasoline to remove dirt and dust which mix with old grease to form a grinding compound. The bearings should all be removed, cleaned, and checked for wear, if worn they should be replaced. Any bent or broken parts of the machine should be taken down, straightened, repaired or replaced with new ones.

It is far cheaper to replace a bearing than to buy a new axle or other shaft, just as it is cheaper to repair a slightly used machine rather than to buy a new one at present day prices.

Henry Ford was the world's wealthiest man.

Vermont "farm for sale" advertisement states, "If purchased before next heavy windstorm, a barn is included."

297 years old, and said to have been the scene of the first Masonic meeting in Canada—the Annapolis Hotel, of Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, closed its doors recently.

PONTIAC

THE FINEST CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD MADE EVEN FINER!

A Product of General Motors

*Available with certain models at extra cost.

Sixes and Eights with the Famous GM Hydra-Matic Drive!

Today, Pontiac announces a series of notable advancements in the car that has already won the wholehearted endorsement of more than a million owners and friends.

Foremost among these advancements is the great General Motors Hydra-Matic Drive.® Pontiac is the lowest-priced car in the world to offer (as an option) this great mechanical masterpiece — which shifts gears automatically, and completely eliminates the clutch pedal.

Coupled with this great engineering triumph is a striking improvement in beauty and luxury. New exterior smartness extends from the new radiator grille to the streamlined rear bumper.

Interiors, too, are remarkably improved. Upholsteries are more beautiful and provide new attractiveness and charm. Instrument panels are finished in a smart design, and an adroit use of chrome moulding adds a deft touch of modernity.

Engine and chassis retain, basically, the same engineering masterpieces which have become synonymous in the automotive industry with goodness and dependability.

A wide range of Pontiacs is produced in many body types and striking colours, with six and eight cylinder engines, and with wheelbases of 116" and 119". This triumph of engineering stands alone in its field for beauty — for performance — for comfort — and for dependability. Again for 1948—it is truly THE FINEST CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD.

Rats Destroy Food And Menace Health

Perhaps the most formidable of the rodents which are destroyers of food and property and a serious menace to public health, is the common brown or Norway Rat.

It is a prolific breeder, the female being capable of bearing four to ten rats, which in turn are able to breed at the age of about six months.

The extermination of rats is complicated by the fact that most of the suitable poison baits used in their destruction are also injurious to other animals and to humans. If reasonable precautions are observed, however, poison baits can be used to good effect.

One of the best methods of defence is to make buildings ratproof, and the best material to use is concrete. This should be used for foundations of storehouses, granaries, poultry houses, and special care should be taken to see that any spaces around drains and other pipes is concreted over. Doors to such buildings should be bound at their base with sheet-metal, and ventilators and basement windows protected. Heavy, galvanized wire netting of half-inch mesh is effective in excluding rats from such things as corn cribs.

If there are not many rats, they can often be eliminated by using traps. This method is particularly suited to the house where the use of poison bait is often undesirable. Traps of the spring or guillotine type, or the wire cage type, are both equally good with satisfactory bait. Indeed, the spring type is often effective without bait if placed in run-ways formed by leaving boards against walls and covering the traps with a piece of cheesecloth, sawdust or other light material to obscure them.

Information on the best method of exterminating and controlling rats and mice may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture and asking for Special Pamphlet No. 33, "Control of Rats and Mice."

"They couldn't walk like other children"

It was a great day at Last Bend when they bundled the little girl with the twisted legs into the waiting plane.

Few people come to Last Bend. Few leave. On the map the place isn't even marked. Dotted lines indicate the river course—aimless as the lives of the crippled children whose poverty-stricken parents owned the two-room shack.

Margaret had been born up there in the bush, about 400 miles south of the Yukon border. It is a tough country, even for hard-bitten woodsmen and trappers. It demands strength and stamina. Margaret had neither. Instead, she had congenitally-deformed hips.

Only fourteen . . . and helpless. A doctor, explaining matters in lay terms, would have said that they were out of joint—the femurs parted from the sockets. Margaret merely knew that she couldn't walk like other children. Her feet turned outwards at right angles. She moved haltingly, fearfully, as if she were very old. But Margaret was just fourteen.

She had been ten when Jean arrived—the little sister of the dark solemn eyes, the quick intelligence.

But a little sister born, like Margaret, with cruelly-dislocated hips. A school teacher came to Last Bend. Margaret learned something, then, of the world beyond the bush; heard whispered references to hospitals for crippled children. But, of course, her case was hopeless. It always had been.

Into another life

Yet it happened. The plight of Margaret and Jean came to the attention of the Red Cross. One morning a plane landed at Last Bend. Now—in friendly wards among cheerful, hopeful children, Margaret and Jean are being treated and schooled. Already Jean is walking better—much is hoped of an operation. Her limbs will not be conspicuous—not for her the life of an "ugly duckling."

For Margaret, too, a brighter future beckons—after an uphill fight. Age makes a difference. And 14 years is a long, long time . . . at Last Bend.

When you are asked to 'help support the Red Cross', remember: It is to such hospitals and other Red Cross services for the relief of suffering, that your money will go.

Red Cross Services include: Blood Transfusion, Outpost Hospitals, Aid to Sick and Disabled Veterans, Treatment for Crippled Children, Disaster Relief, Nutrition Services, Home Nursing Courses, Swimming and Water Safety, etc.
